HARLEY – DAVIDSON

“Firefighter Special Edition”

As a tribute to firefighters after the 9/11 terrorist attacks on the United States, Harley-Davidson Inc. announced in January 2002 that it would produce a motorcycle designed as a salute to firefighters, many of whom risked their lives aiding victims of the attacks on the World Trade Center in New York City and the Pentagon in Washington, D.C. The bikes began arriving at dealers early in the spring of 2002.

The motorcycle's design is like those manufactured by Harley-Davidson for law enforcement officers, which have been available since 1987. The company also makes motorcycles for on-the-job use by police officers and emergency medical technicians. The Firefighter Special Edition is designed for consumer, not professional, use. "The firefighter cycle is for pleasure. Sporting a solid scarlet red paint scheme with double gold pinstripes and Harley-Davidson chrome treatment. Engines and transmissions for the motorcycles are manufactured in Milwaukee. The bikes are assembled at Harley-Davidson's York, Pa. plant.

Over the years, the Firefighter Special Edition has been produced in five models and are powered by Harley's twin-cam engine. The first Firefighter Special Edition models produced in 2002 were the Electra Glide Classic, Electra Glide Ultra Classic, and the Road King. In 2009, two more models were added. The Heritage Softail and the Fatboy. Harley-Davidson never produce the Firefighter Special Edition in a Road Glide Model.

From the air brushed "Phoenix", "Feathers", and "Flames" to the highly detailed Firefighter Badges, to the Gold Leaf and Hand Painted Pin Stripes, this 2006 Road Glide Model is Custom Built and Truly "One of A Kind."

The bike has 36k miles on it. The Screamin' Eagle Engine has less than 4k miles. Complete with Andrews Gear Drive Cams, the engine built out at 108 HP and 100 Ft Lbs. Torque. It is outfitted with every option and detachable accessory that was available at the time.
